Marks & Tavano Customizable “Villa Royale Pooch Penthouse” designed by Michael Tavano features stain- and odor-resistant upholstery from Crypton Home Fabrics.

Dog Daze

Your furry friend will beg for these colorful finds

Summer may be coming to a close, but there’s always time to spoil your pet. To prep for cooler weather and more time indoors, treat your animal pal to a kennel upgrade. The stately Pooch Penthouse with neoclassic flair (above) is sure to make any canine—or cat—feel special and secure.

“We all know they’re the lord or lady of the manor,” says Michael Tavano, creative director of Marks & Tavano, which offers the well-tailored abode. As you can see, the designer’s mixed-breed rescue pup, Bartley, approves of his fancy digs. Its peaked roof also serves as a tray to corral treats, toys, collars, and other pet necessities.

A new leash makes a great year-round gift—especially one made from hand-spliced, marine-grade rope. Dog-adorned coasters and colorful tip-proof pedestal bowls guard against spills and stains. 🐾
